

NWF Advisory Services, Inc. Business Continuity Plan

NWF Advisory Services, Inc. (“NWF”) is committed to providing timely service to our Advisory Representatives and their clients. We recognize the importance of preparing for various disaster scenarios that could hamper our ability to provide such services. NWF has taken steps to provide for business contingency and continuity planning under a variety of potential scenarios. We continue to upgrade our continuity plans and expand our resources in order to provide for the recovery and timely resumption of critical business operations to our clients.

NWF maintains a business continuity plan and intends to continue business in the event of a significant business disruption. NWF provides regular training to all personnel to ensure advisers and staff know what to do in the event of an emergency. In addition, NWF recommends that Advisory Representatives review the business continuity plan with their clients annually, to ensure clients are aware of all alternate means of communication in case of a disaster emergency. Please be aware that NWF relies on its correspondent-clearing firm (Pershing LLC) to perform certain functions on its behalf, including the execution of security transactions and the maintenance of client funds and securities.

In the event of a significant business disruption at the main office in Los Angeles, NWF may route calls to an alternative location, and employees are equipped to work remotely. Although NWF intends to continue business in the event of a significant business disruption, there are some disruptions that may render NWF or your Advisory Representative(s) unable to continue business. Under such circumstances, NWF will assist so clients will be able to access their funds and securities within a reasonable time. If the client’s Advisory Representative is not available please contact Matt Almanza, Chris Duffy, Heather Scully or Shehab Mohammad for assistance.

Types of Business Interruptions: The following are some common examples of business disasters/interruptions that can occur anywhere at any time:

- Environmental incidents – tornadoes, hurricanes, mud slides, wildfires, floods and earthquakes
- Equipment or system failure – power grid shutdown, blackouts, rolling blackouts, computer viruses and security breaches
- Loss of utilities and service – electrical power failure, loss of water supply, loss of fuel supply and fuel shortage
- Personnel issues – illness, resignations and maternity leave
- Organized and/or deliberate disruption – acts of terrorism and sabotage, theft, arson and labor disputes
- Legal/regulatory action – lawsuits and SEC violations
- Pandemic - Widespread national/global health issues as declared by local or federal government.

I. NWF's Response to Events of Varying Scope

The following sections describe specific events and NWF's corresponding general response to those events. Clients, however, should note that these responses are subject to modification and, depending on the severity of a specific event; NWF cannot guarantee that it will be able to follow the stated course of action. If these responses are modified, NWF will distribute the updated disclosure statement.

Under the following scenarios, NWF intends to continue its business:

Single Building Disruption – Alternative worksite

These disruptions may be caused by physical damage, technology problems, or an inability to have personnel arrive at an office. In the event that there is a significant business disruption to a single building or NWF's internal primary system, NWF may, if necessary, transfer its operations or route incoming calls to another office or remote location in a separate geographic area. From this separate location, NWF will accept client orders. In this process, clients may experience a minor delay in reaching NWF due to increased clients calls, technology delays, or other minor difficulties arising from the transfer of operations. NWF expects that operations could be disrupted for up to eight (8) hours. If NWF's trading platform is affected, there may be a more significant delay. NWF, however, will be able to place orders outside the trading platform.

Business-District, City-Wide, or Regional Disruption

In the event that there is a significant business disruption that affects the business district, city, region or country where any of NWF's primary systems are located, NWF may, if necessary, transfer its operations or route incoming calls to another office in a separate geographic location office. In the process, clients may experience a minor delay in reaching NWF due to increased client calls, technology delays, or other minor difficulties arising from the transfer of operations. In addition, if our clearing firm is affected by a business-district, citywide, or regional disruption, clients may experience additional delays. Nevertheless, NWF expects that operations could be disrupted for up to twenty-four (24) hours.

Critical System Disruption

In the event that there is a disruption to our operation systems that are critical for operations, such as server failure, phone failure, loss of internet connection, inability to connect to client databases, and/or inability to access online trading system, NWF has put in place back-up systems to be able to operate. In the event that the server fails NWF expects that operations could be disrupted for up to eight (8) hours, however, all information stored on the server is backed up daily on a cloud-based network. Should our phone system have difficulties, within one (1) hour or less we are able to program incoming calls to ring to a cell phone for assistance, it can be programmed to any number. During an inability to connect to client databases we have alternative locations with client information that can be accessed, so there should be no down time. Also, should the online trading system go down, we are able to place trades over the phone and still process orders in a timely manner.

Conclusion

Please be aware that, while we have continuity plans in place, and employees are equipped to work remotely, we cannot guarantee that we will be successful in achieving recovery in the times noted above. For example, we may not be able to implement a plan during a disaster as quickly as we expect, or there may be disasters that we have been unable to anticipate and for which we have no plan. Additionally, if parts of our plan are dependent on third parties, we will have no control over the success or failure of the third party to respond appropriately to the challenges posed at the time of the disaster. These plans are periodically updated and modified. Updated plan summaries will be made available upon your request. If you have any questions, please contact your NWF Advisory Representative.
